greatest claim to fame lies in its voice and its response to the pianist's touch. The tone of the Acrosonic is so rich and full, and the action is so light and responsive, that playing becomes an absolute delight. Your children learn faster too on an Acrosonic because of these qualities. Choose an Acrosonic for your home. There's just no finer small piano. You'll realize it the minute you play one, and the thrill of owning a Baldwin built spinet lasts. You'll always be glad you chose an Acrosonic.

Midgets Defeated; Johnson Returns Kickoff for TD

The Pottstown Junior High school midget team lost to Consnonocken's 100-pounders yesterday afternoon despite a 70-yard kickoff return for a touchdown by Johnny Conshy won the home game, 13-6 but Johnson's run was the play of the day. It came on the first play of the fourth period just after the inners scored their second touch down to conclude the third quarter.

Joe Gigliotti opened the scoring for Conshy by capping a 60-yard drive with a five-yard thrust for the TD. Tom Graham kicked the extra point and at halftime the home team date.

Grammer Refuses To Take Sland as Murder Trial Ends

Grammer murder trial ended today except for final arguments Thursday. From there on the life jury at Grammer's request.

Grammer's attorney gave him next few months the choice of taking the stand after Mathilda Mizibrocky told the court she planned to marry Grammer before she learned he had a wife and family. Grammer declined

The state contended that Grammer killed his 33-year-old wife, Dorothy May, "with malice aforethought" and tried to make her death appear to be an accident so he would be free to marry Miss Mizibrocky, a trim, attractive, 28-year-old secretary at the United Nations headquarters in New York. It based its case on tion keeping her and Grammer'fire and warden services from being wed. She is a Catholic. Grammer is a Methodist. The defense pictured Grammer throughout as a thoughtful, generous family man who was fond of his wife and three daughters. It attempted to portray Miss Mizibrocky as one to whom marriage discussions and overnight dates were not original topics. Grammer in an earlier part of provided for early 1953

Trinity Evangelical Now Averaging 190 Pupils For School Sessions

SUNDAY CLASS

OF CHURCH HERE

Trinity Evangelical Congregational Sunday school has moved up from 60th to 31st place in enrolmen among Evangelical church schools in Eastern Pennsylvania during the past six years, it was revealed last night.

The Rev. Donald T. Floyd, pastor, made the announcement after getting the official figures at the annual convention yesterday in illustrated his talk with maps painted by himself. Pointing to the areas he spoke of on the maps, he told the Lions club of the importance of the area in supplying munitions to the forces of Washington.

He said Pottstown was so important that Washington gave up Philadelphia to hold this area where the furnaces of Warwick, Reading and Potts were located. The furnaces were a necessary part of the army's supply of ammunition and guns.

After the talk by Walters, the Lions and their wives were entertained by a variety act. Paul Hoffman, past president, accompanied the act on the piano.

Why do voters fail to vote?

Not primarily for the reasons they give ("didn't register." "away at the time." 'moved"), concludes the magazine Factory Management after surveying voters. The real reasons are those that they attribute to other people, and they add up to indifference. The actual reasons for non-voting are hard to find because there is a natural inclination for people to avoid admitting that they didn't vote and to find plausible excuses for their failure to do so. Non-registration was the reason most often cited (29 percent) for failure to vote in tion of the General Assembly in New

"The modern teen ager is more socially adjusted than he was years ago," Maraffie points out. ."Outside activities, instead of being a bad influence, provide young people with more opportunities to adjust themiselves to social changes."

There has been no big change in moral values of today's youth. Maraffie says. Any decrease in moral standards, he says, is proportionate to the increase in population. When he is not on his job, Maraffie likes to work around the house He also is a sports enthusiast. He likes all sports and his first-hand experience in participating in athletic contests and his coaching have given him a good background for understanding them.

Maraffie captained the basketball and football squads in his junior and senior years at Avonmore High school

In 1938 Maraffie married the former Bertha Neubert of Allentown The couple has two children, Lewis 2d, 10, and Marilyn. 8. Both are, attending the Rupert school. Young Lewis has not as yet shown any strong interest in taking up psychology. In fact, Maraffie points out, both children have been guided by their mother into music

"I haven t had a chance yet, ' Maraffie says, "to break the boy in DOTTSTOWN has become the home for many out-of-towners who fell in love with the community and decided to grow roots here.

One of these settlers is Charles V. Eaton, 980 Feist avenue, who, after traveling around the country, decided that Pottstown suited him to a T Because Pottstown suited him, the community can claim a promising young hosiery executive as one of its citizens Eaton is the son of a traveling salesman who went into the hosiery business. As a boy, he traveled about the country with his family, going from one school to another until he graduated from Frankford High school Philadelphia, in 1940. About that time, the elder Eaton opened a hosiety plant in Gilbertsville and the family settled for a while in the a🌪a

The 29-year-old manufacturer got his first taste of the stocking business during the summers he went to high school. He worked during his vacation periods in hosiery mills and got working knowledge of the business from the ground level. The experisence he gained there has paid off over the years.

Eafon was born in Wildwood,

N J. in 1923 He got his schooling in more schools than he can remember and graduated from high school in Philadelphia. While the family lived in the Pottstown area. he attended Pottstown Business college for about a year and then went to work at the Superior Tube company doing general office work. Following this tob Eaton went to Philadelphia where he worked for the Bendix Aviation company in charge of that firm a perpetual inventory Following service in the Army during World War II. Eaton joined his father in the hosiery business.

"My dad was getting up in years," Eaton explains, "and was not very active in the business. I entered the firm as a partner."

As a partner, he went in with both hands swinging. The hosiery bus ness had been somet hat stifeled in a highly competitive market and had taken on a nog-eat ong aspect. While the dogs were eating each other. Eaton concentrated on putting out a top-quality product and studied marketing methods. Trips for his health were turned into sales campaign trips. New markets were sought and courted. New marketing methods were devised

Eaton was one of the pioneers of 66 garge full fashioned women's hosiers. This is the finest hosiers manufactured today, and only a few manufacturers turn out 66 gauge

Another or his firsts was the self-service display rack for packaged stockings. This development is currently under consideration for a patent. The packages are transparent on one side and color-coded on the from so that the customer can pick the color, size gauge and demer with the utmost ease

"The rack has already helped one dealer in the Polisiown area boost his hosiery sales 1800 percent." Eaton says.

Since sales are the life blood of the industry, and as Eaton points out you've got to sell what you make, the young industrialist has put his product in'o many more new market outlets. For about a year he has been selling hosiery through super markets, a market which had been everlooked by others. Eaton has also negotiated with service Pos' Lychanges to provide still another sales outlet.

In addition he has pressed sales in Western states and has 28 brokers for one of his brands of hosiery. He expects to have brokers in all of the states before too long. Eaton has concentrated sales of one brand of stocking in Texas and another brand in Iowa. Sales from those two states are a big part of his business.

Since his work takes up a good deal of his time. Eaton likes to spend what evenings he can at home with his wife, the former Esther' Numan of Fughtown. The couple was married Dec. 29, 1946, and have iwo children. They are Charles D. who is 10 months old, and Linda, 5, who attends kindergarten at Franklin school.
